Did You Know?

A treasure trove of information awaits you at the Morgan County Library! One of the many services available through the library is Pioneer: Utah's Online Library.

What is Pioneer: Utah's Online Library?

"Pioneer is a virtual library created by the Utah State Library Division in cooperation with Utah's public libraries. It is one component of the statewide Pioneer project, which serves Utah's public schools and academic institutions, as well as patrons of public libraries.

"The Pioneer databases include journal articles, magazines, newspapers, pictures, biographies, and other research aides that are unavailable on the "free" internet. . . They are available to you in your local public library or in your own home.

If you have a computer and/or a hand held device you have access to dozens of the Pioneer databases which have been made available to all public libraries in the State of Utah by the Utah State Library and the Utah Department of Community and Culture.

These databases can be accessed by going to pioneer.utah.gov.

1926 Union Pacific Railroad Depot listed on National Register

The Historical Society recently received notification that the application to list the 1926 Union Pacific Railroad Depot on the National Register of Historic Places was approved.

A grant was received earlier this year to compile the documentation required to list the building on the National Register. This was a matching grant and Morgan City, current owners of the depot, provided the matching money necessary for the grant.

The Historical Society provided the history of the building; from its construction in 1926 to the present. A final application was completed and submitted by a professional architectural consultant, as is required by law.

After the nomination was approved at a state level, it was forwarded to the National Park Service for final approval. On October 20, 2011 the depot was officially listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

When the depot nomination was being considered at a state level member of the committee made comments in reference to both the exterior and interior of the building being in such pristine condition. Especially since the depot is 85 years old. Little, if any changes have been made since its original construction.

The citizen of Morgan should be commended for the preservation of this local treasure.
